The condition of the banks improves daily. The condition of the banks improves daily. The increase in legal tenders was $1,000,000 in the last few days. The building interest has been seriously delayed and almost crip-pled by the panic. The work of erecting new buildings has diminished in such degree that the present rate of expenditure is only $4,-500,000 yearly; whereas last year it was, $24,-500,000. Very few, if any, fine buildings have been commenced since the panic, those in course of erection being all small buildings or tenements.

The boss builders and masons at a secret meeting lately have resolved after November 1st to reduce the wages of bricklayers from $450 to $350. This will prove a severe blow to the laborers and may cause trouble. The prospect for carpenters is much similar, as no houses can be finished until the brick newly printed bond. If the charges made walls are up. Many leading members of the Trades' Unions are in favor of erecting the new city prison, as it will certainly give em-ployment to a large number during the winter who must otherwise go idle. The shoe-makers trade is also very dull. Men and women employed at present prices are making miserable wages, and are being discharged in large numbers.

A week or two ago the cable reported the substance of the correspondence between the Pope and the Emperor of Germany. The following is the text of the letters:

THE POPE'S LETTER.

VATICAN, August 7, 1873. YOUR MAJESTY: The measures which have been adopted by your government, all aim more and more at the destruction of Catholicism. When I ponder over the causes which may have led to these very measures, I confess I am unable to discover any reasons for such course. On the other hand I am in-formed your Majesty does not countenance the proceedings of your government, and does not approve the harshness of the measures adopted against the Catholic religion. tion of March 30, 1868, introduced by scena-tion of March 30, 1868, introduced by scena-tor Edmunds, was passed, and the Cookes compelled to disgorge, it was well known that their establishment was shaken to its very foundation.

If then it be true that your Majesty does not approve thereof, and the letters which your august Majesty addressed me formerly might sufficiently demonstrate that you can not your Majesty does not approve of your government continuing in the path it has chosen of further extending its measures against the religion of Jesus Christ, whereby the latter is most injuriously affected, will your Majesty then, not become convinced that these measares have no other effect than that of undermining your Majesty's throne. I speak with frankness, for our banner is truth. I speak in order to fulfill one of my duties, which consists in telling the truth to all, even to those who are not Catholics, for every one who has been baptised (which to define more who has been bapused (which to denne more precisely would be here out of place), belongs to the Pope. The Currency.

[Interview with the Marquis De Chambron, the French Legal Adviser at Washington.] "To show a relation between the amount of currency and the needs of a nation for it," said the Marquis finally, "is the prob-lem of squaring the circle. There is no limit to the amount of money which a panic will not absorb. But to do any banking upon a basis of paper which makes no promises of redeemability in specie, is to invite panics, and meet them with new expansions, which again will be absorbed in times of panic. That is the difference between your merchants and those of Europe. The American mer-chant would like the government to help him out of his need, without inquiring about the legitimacy of the help issued. But nobody cuts loose from a gold and silver basis in Europe without some distinct understanding.

"France," said the Marquis de Cham-bron, "is the nation which brings out gold the quickest and cheapest, because, in fifty years, she has never dishonored her obligations, whatever the class or race of the beneficiary. Her last loan brought 58 francs on 50 francs. The Bank of France is the most approved Bank in Europe, because it behaves closest to the etiquette of realistic and civilized banking; it does not like your American banks, or the Bank of England, invest any of its surplus in real estate; but the amount of investments in the best negotiable business paper determines its circulation. Its general success, considering our many disturbances, is greater than that of the Bank of England. If it held merely mortgages on land and houses, and there was a sudden rusa upon it, its circulation would be exhausted; but, as its loans are on business paper, it has an elasticity of circulation; for it can increase its currency when there is most need."

WATER TO BE PAID FOR. What President Elder Has to Say Upon the Difference Between the Company and the City.

Ever since the erection of public water fountains in this city, the first of which were put up in August, '72, there has been a difference of a pecuniary nature existing between the City Council and the Water Works Company, the first claiming that by the charter the city was entitled to water for use in the station house, office head-No. 10 E. Washington Street, cost, the municipal corporation only paying for the fire plugs, to be used for fire purposes, at the rate of $50 per year for each and every one erected; while on the other hand it was contested to the contrary, and that the city had no right to anything which was not paid for. Every settlement day between the city and the Water Works Company, bills for those public drinking fountains have been presented and just as promptly stricken from the appropriation ordinance, and the business has finally come to the issue that the company will tap no more mains for additional fountains, and the Council has referred the question to the City Attorney with instructions to report what rights either party has that the other is bound to respect. The opinion of Judge Elliott is looked forward to with interest.

A New's reporter yesterday afternoon, having curiosity to learn how Mr. Elder, President of the Company, looked at this matter, hunted up that genial gentleman, and a sort of colloquial talk followed, partaking more of the nature of an accidental

To the query, "What is the nature of the row between you and the city over the drinking fountains?" the answer was returned, "No row, only the city won't pay. We commenced furnishing water in this way some two years ago, no, not quite so mackerel, No. 1, half barrel, 9@10; No. 2 mackerel in kits, No. 1, 1 55@1 65; ditto No. To the query, "What is the nature of the row between you and the city over the drinking fountains?" the answer was relong, and now there are some eight or ten | 2, 1 fountains in operation. We kept putting down, putting down, expecting pay; but the city hasn't paid a cent, and have stricken out the claims as fast as present-

"What do you claim?" "We consider the fountains cheap at $50 per year, the same as charged for fire-plugs. On the price paid for plugs the city, how-ever, thinks she is entitled to fill cisterns, use water for engine houses, city building, etc., when in reality she hasn't. It costs us money to furnish water, and we can't do it unless we are paid for our labor. These fountains, it is safe to say, with their 4-inch openings and moderate pres-sure, run off 15,000 gallons per day, and the eight, on this estimate, waste 120,000 gallons every 24 hours. Our lowest rates to regular customers, as fixed by the ordinance, is twenty cents per thousand gallons, which would be over three collars per day for these fountains; and yet we are willing to let the city continue them at $50 per year for each one. We don't think the city has the right to this free use; don't believe our charter contemplated that they should have. But this question of right will have to be determined in the courts, and the suit now pending about laying more mains will doubtless determine the matter. The plain situation now is, that if the city won't pay us for the water used in the fountains we won't tap any more mains for the erection of additional ones unless compelled to do so by law." Further conversation developed that the Company was good humored in their persistence for this payment, and wanted no John R. Fiscus had a horse and buggy about a harshness of feeling with the city authorities. What differences there were The Sans Souci Club has a social at Gov- already existing would be settled by the decision of Judge Elliott or in the final disposition of the suits now pending in the J.
